NAZIS USING HEAVIEST ARTILLERY IN DRIVE ON CAPITAL OF GREECE

By The Associated Press

Hitler's High Command says British-Greek allies "thrown out" of Thermopylae pass; Nazis call Athens a "ripe apple" waiting to be plucked by advancing panzer columns; Germans indicate Hellenic capital will be spared bombardment; luftwaffe blasts Greek escape ports. German night raiders bomb Portsmouth, set 30 big fires; RAF pounds Kiel, Wilhelmshaven, and targets along coasts of Norway, Holland, Belgium, France. Rome newspapers say Axis submarines will attack U. S. convoys to Britain.

BULLETIN

Athens, April 25.—(P)—German forces, carried by plane-escorted troop ships, landed on the Greek island of Lemnos, 40 miles from the strategic Dardanelles, and subdued a small Greek force after a four hour battle. The ministry of home security, disclosed indirectly that the Germans also were on the neighboring island of Samothrace. At the same time it was reported that German forces attacked Evvoia, the long Greek island off the eastern Greek mainland, but were said to have been repulsed.

TRANSPORTS IN ATHENS WITHOUT ESCAPE HARBORS DETAILS FROM HEAVILY BOMBED MOUNTAIN PASS

By The Associated Press

Berlin, April 25.—The German High Command today announced that Nazi troops had thrown the British out of Thermopylae Pass. "In Greece Thermopylae Pass was taken in an embracing attack, and thus the enemy was thrown out of a strongly fortified position," said the daily communique in announcing the piercing of the historic mountains less than 100 miles north of Athens, where the British contingent had held up the Nazi advance.

"Mountain troops again had an outstanding share in this success," said the communique. (A non-committal communique of the High Command yesterday, together with today's report, indicated the Germans had been held up more than 48 hours in their efforts to take the strategic pass.)

Informal sources said many pieces of heavy artillery and war machinery fell into their hands. At the same time black-embellished Nazi bombers and stukas were reported making relentless attacks against ship concentrations and airports in an effort to disable British evacuation machinery and wreck the RAF.

During the past 24 hours in Greek waters six ships were reported sunk and 14 damaged, including a destroyer and two "auxiliary warships." These 14 were so severely damaged that they are hardly useable for embarkation of the British Expeditionary Corps," said the High Command.

One 6,000-ton vessel was sunk west of Thermia island, it was reported. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

By J. WES GALLAGHER

Athens, April 25.—(P)—Six-inch guns, the heaviest artillery the Nazis have used in their drive toward Athens, have been turned on the British and Greek defenders of Thermopylae, where grey-green waves of German infantry were beaten back.

Dramatic but barren of detail, latest reports filtering back to Athens from the historic battle-field said only that the British and Greeks clung doggedly to their positions in the face of massed German forces. Observers here regarded the news that the Nazis, after trying infantry assault, had brought big guns up through the mountains as an indication of the fierce resistance they were meeting.

Ambulance drivers returning from the front said the Germans had lost heavily in attempts so far to storm the defenses. They claimed British losses were "extremely light."

Uninformed quarters in Berlin indicated today the Nazis intended to occupy Athens only after making sure it could be taken without bombardment—just as they took Paris. The German High Command announced the British had been thrown out of Thermopylae pass.

(The Germans meanwhile declared 89,600 tons of shipping had been sunk in Greek waters in three days as the luftwaffe concentrated on crippling British lines of retreat.)

One hundred miles southeast of the mountainous battlefront, German air power continued to concentrate on ports and shipping near Athens, itself shaken at dusk. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Dr. William T. Bell, a police surgeon, said the woman appeared to be about 36 years old and estimated she had been dead for several months.

Captain William Engle of the homicide squad said parts of the body had been mutilated. Engle said the circumstances of the slaying were similar to that of the death of Mary Vila, 23, who was killed here January 1, 1940. The Vila girl's slayer has never been apprehended.

Detroit, April 25.—(P)—The dispute between General Motors Corporation and the CIO's United Automobile Workers, from which a strike threatens, entered a critical stage today.

Final returns from a union strike poll in locals covering 61 plants in the nation were awaited, and union and corporation were reported still far apart on two major issues—a closed shop and wage boost.

Locals in 41 plants, UAW-CIO officials announced, have voted overwhelmingly for a strike. Last night was the deadline for completion of the voting. (Turn to Page Eight)

"America Wasting Most Precious Hours" In History Governor Tells Pittsburgh Crowd

Pittsburgh, April 25.—(P)—Governor Arthur H. James said today that America is "wasting what may be the most precious hours" in its history "getting ready to establish the terms on which we are willing to get ready to defend democracy."

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, the Pennsylvania governor asked: "What is the matter with us now that 100 per cent of the power of this great nation is not being applied to its task of self defense? Is the fault in democracy? It is surely not. The fault is in not using democracy to solve the problems which confront us."

"I say that not government nor labor nor capital can hope for freedom tomorrow if we do not today earn the freedom and the rights which we fought for in the past. The fall of France was not due to the lack of power in a democracy to arm and prepare a fighting nation, but in the failure of France in critical years to use democracy for union, for liberty

INTENT ON REOPENING OF MINES

Bituminous Men Predict Three-Man Panel Will Bring Resumption of Work to the Fore at Once by Making Direct Request to Miners and Operators to Start Digging and Remove Threat Of Serious Shortage

AGENCIES UNDERLINE MENACING SITUATION

By The Associated Press

The soft coal dispute which has set back production an estimated 30,000,000 tons since April 1 came up today before a mediation panel intent on quick reopening of the mines.

Some coal men predicted the three-man panel would bring the reopening issue to the fore at once by making a direct request to the miners and operators to resume digging and remove the threat of a serious fuel shortage from national defense industries.

While President Roosevelt's board got down to business on the coal controversy, CIO officials declared a strike at the big Glenn L. Martin airplane factory at Baltimore, and another CIO group completed balloting on a strike call against General Motors Corporation's 61 widely-scattered production units.

The National Defense Mediation Board, are William H. Davis, representing the public; Walter Teagle, a Standard Oil executive, representing employers, and Clinton Golden, a CIO official, representing labor.

The disagreement involves 400,000 miners and 7,000 coal producers in eight Appalachian states and in outlying mining areas where wage contracts are based on the general Appalachian agreement.

Following unsuccessful attempts to negotiate an agreement, the case was certified to the board by Secretary Perkins early yesterday.

Seriousness of the mounting fuel shortage was underlined by two official agencies. The War Department said the shortage had caused "drastic" curtailment in production of ammonia, steel, textiles and other products needed for defense. The Bureau of Mines said only about two weeks' supply of coal now was above ground.

CIO leaders, who claim their organization embraces 3,200 of the 17,000 workers in the Martin airplane factory at Baltimore, announced plans last night to "picket the plant and close it down" until we close it down—a task which they conceded might take "some time."

Glenn L. Martin, company president, declined to admit that a strike was in progress. Twenty-

872 SHIPS LOOT OF REICH NAVY REPORT CLAIMS

Enemy Vessels Totalling 1,900,000 Tons Said to Have Been Brought Into Port or Confiscated in Occupied Harbors Since War's Start

RAIDERS STILL BUSY

Berlin, April 25.—(P)—The Reich's navy has brought into port or confiscated in occupied ports 872 enemy ships totalling 1,900,000 tons since the beginning of the war, the German High Command announced today.

Yesterday and the day before, the High Command added, 71,600 tons of British shipping have been sunk in British and Greek waters, including 30,000 tons by "one warship operating overseas."

This raider was said to have sunk 29,000 tons previously.

The High Command said last night that 89,000 tons of shipping had been sunk in and about Greek waters in the last three days.

It was acknowledged, however, that two ace submarine commanders, Commander Otto Kretschmer (known to the British as the "wolf of the Atlantic") and Lieut. Commander Joachim Schepke, had failed to return. (The British have announced that Schepke is dead and Kretschmer a prisoner.)

The announcement concerning Kretschmer's capture said he had destroyed three "enemy" destroyers—two in his last voyage—and 213,611 tons of shipping since the beginning of the war.

The auxiliary cruisers Lauretic Patroclus and Forfar were among his victims, the High Command said.

Schepke had sunk 233,571 tons, the announcement added. By the end of 1940 he had been credited with sinking 40 ships. Both commanders had been decorated with the oak leaves of the Knights Cross of the Iron Cross.

Parts of the crews of the two submarines also were captured, it was said.

It was acknowledged that the British had succeeded in bombing Kiel, Germany's big naval and shipbuilding base, and other areas in northwestern Germany, but the High Command declared that only residential areas were hit and that there was "no military or war economy damage anywhere."

In return, the communique said, Germans bombed Portsmouth naval base. Informer quarters said at least 30 large fires were started.

In the sea war, the Germans said, 27,600 tons of shipping were sunk yesterday and the day before in Greek waters, while three merchantmen totalling 14,000 tons were shot from a convoy east of Dundee, Scotland. Another large ship was reported damaged east of Sunderland.

Londoners Who Enjoy Good Smoke These Days Endowed With Persistence and Cunning

BY W. T. YARBROUGH
London, April 25.—(P)—The cigarette smoker in London today faces two harsh obstacles—first, to find a cigarette, and second, to smoke it.

Some tobaccoists have grown so fed up with saying over and over, "Sorry sir, I can't get them," that they're closing up shop at least one day each week.

Anyone who captures a good smoke these days must be endowed with persistence and cunning. The country has been drawing on reserve stocks for several months and some tobacco warehouses have gone up suddenly in bomb smoke.

Many provincial towns have been without cigarettes of any brand for weeks, but acute shortage hit London only recently.

It is now almost a display of bad manners to accept a cigarette from a friend.

During the demonstration, 300 motorists drew fines of $2.50 to $25 for violating a motor code section which declares an auto horn for use as a warning and "not as a signal that you are on the street."

EXTENSION OF PATROL DISCUSSED

President, in Press Conference, Declares American Neutrality Vessels Will Operate as Far Into Waters of the Seven Seas as May Be Necessary For Defense of the American Hemisphere

AXIS OCCUPATION OF GREENLAND IS HINTED

Washington, April 25.—(P)—President Roosevelt declared today that American neutrality patrol vessels would operate as far into the waters of the seven seas as may be necessary for the defense of the American hemisphere.

He told a press conference, however, that the administration was not thinking of escorting convoys at this time.

Also, the chief executive said there was a possibility that Greenland was partly occupied by Axis forces. He said that he did not know about this, but agreed this statement was surprising.

He replied in the negative to a question whether occupation might be by Fifth Columnists.

Mr. Roosevelt declined to be drawn into specific comments designed to amplify his views on the convoy situation.

For year and a half, Mr. Roosevelt said, the patrol has been extended here and pulled in there. It is being extended and will be extended from time to time, he asserted.

He was glad, he said, that a reporter asked how far the extension might go. It was then that he declared it would be as far into the seven seas as necessary for hemisphere defense.

He repeated several times the thought of hemisphere defense in response to questions about the functions of the patrol.

What it would do if it encountered a belligerent vessel, and whether it would be allowed to use belligerent means was not made clear.

The president did say a patrol would not necessarily be confined to the Atlantic. The president was asked exactly what was the difference between a convoy and a patrol. In the first instance, he said, it is the escorting of merchant ships in a group to prevent an act of aggression against those merchant vessels.

A patrol, he explained, is a reconnaissance of certain areas of the ocean to find out whether there is any possible aggressor ship in the area, or in the whole of the ocean, that might be coming into the western hemisphere.

As a matter of common sense, Mr. Roosevelt said, back in 1939 the area of patrol in the Atlantic was closer in because there seemed to be little danger of attack on such places as Bermuda, Newfoundland, Greenland, or Trinidad.

Since then, he continued, events have shown an attack is more possible today than it was then. Furthermore, the president said, the United States has valuable American lives and property located where it did not have them in 1939.

He spoke of Greenland, Newfoundland, Bermuda, of Canada. (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Red Runs the Soil of Athens

LARGE SUMMER CAMP OPEN TO ORGANIZATIONS

The large summer camp constructed at Dunkle Corners on Kinzua creek last year is one of thirty built throughout the United States by the Forest Service. The Allegheny National Forest is most fortunate in that it was selected to promote outdoor recreation in this manner. The name Camp Complanter is derived from its proximity to the Indian reservation of that name.

In addition to the thirty government constructed camps, a total of 213 permits for "organization camps" are now in force on the 160 national forests, according to Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemingway.

Organization camps on national forest areas, an activity pioneered by the Boy and Girl Scout troops many years ago, have expanded from year to year and today include Camp Fire Girls 4-H Clubs, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and various church groups, fraternal organizations, and college study groups. A number of municipalities also have established health and rehabilitation camps in the forests.

The Complanter camp, said Supervisor Hemingway, is operated by the State Y. M. C. A. organization under a permit agreement with the Allegheny National Forest. The camp is operated under the direction of E. C. Reneau, northwestern district secretary of the state Y. M. C. A. organization, whose headquarters are at Corry. The use of the camp is not confined to Y. M. C. A. organizations but is available to other agencies interested in sponsoring underprivileged children or others for a wholesome outdoor vacation. Those interested should contact E. C. Reneau at the above address.

Mr. Hemingway states that this camp has a fine swimming pool, eight dormitories, a large dining hall and kitchen and other needed buildings and improvements. Ample facilities are provided for 96 persons at a time.

Red Runs the Soil of Athens

LARGE SUMMER CAMP OPEN TO ORGANIZATIONS

The large summer camp constructed at Dunkle Corners on Kinzua creek last year is one of thirty built throughout the United States by the Forest Service. The Allegheny National Forest is most fortunate in that it was selected to promote outdoor recreation in this manner. The name Camp Compianter is derived from its proximity to the Indian reservation of that name.

In addition to the thirty government constructed camps, a total of 213 permits for "organization camps" are now in force on the 160 national forests, according to Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemingway.

Organization camps on national forest areas, an activity pioneered by the Boy and Girl Scout troops many years ago, have expanded from year to year and today include Camp Fire Girls 4-H Clubs, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and various church groups, fraternal organizations, and college study groups. A number of municipalities also have established health and rehabilitation camps in the forests.

TO THE GIRL RESERVES!

The fact that the younger members of the Young Women's Christian Association, known as the Girl Reserves will commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of the organization with a program at the activities building tomorrow afternoon to which all members, their mothers and friends are cordially invited, serves to draw particular attention to one of the local welfare projects that is doing excellent work in helping to shape the lives of girls of grade and high school age in Warren and vicinity.

It is well to have an occasion of this kind to help us become better acquainted with organizations engaged in the type of work that is sponsored by the Girl Reserves in the community.

With a membership of approximately 500, not including 28 advisors and 36 in the Girl Reserve Mothers' club, there are few homes in Warren, North Warren or Starbuck where the influence of the organization is not felt in some manner or other. It may interest many to learn that there are clubs in all the grade schools in Warren, as well as at the Beaty building and the High school, while the Starbuck club has 15 members and the North Warren club 31. There are 18 in the Sophomore girls' club and 192 in the High school. Each club has two or three advisors who give of their time and ability to work with the girls.

On this sixtieth anniversary it is appropriate to consider just what the Girl Reserves mean to the young womanhood of a community. In Warren you find the membership includes girls from ten to eighteen years of age. Excepting for incidentals which are surprisingly small the dues for the grade school girls are 25 cents a year, while the High school girls pay 50 cents.

The programs and activities are educational, entertaining and recreational, and are arranged and presented by the club members themselves, the adults acting only in an advisory capacity. While the grade school clubs meet weekly, the High school Girls' club meets every other Monday for business session and program.

Through the activities of the interest groups the girls may be instructed in fencing, photography, knitting, bridge, social dancing, dramatics, basketball, journalism or any other of a number of projects.

The active Girl Reserve, through the slogan of the organization is taught to "try to face life squarely;" she learns that the purpose of the Reserve is "to try to find and give the best," while the code teaches her to "try to be—gracious in manner, impartial in judgment, ready for service, loyal to friends. Reaching towards the best, earnest in purpose, seeing the beautiful, eager for knowledge, reverent to God, victorious over self, ever dependable, sincere at all times."

Mr. Grace Loucks Elliott, president of the Y. W. C. A. of the United States of America, in a statement regarding the anniversary, says:

"Sixty years ago, the Young Women's Christian Association started a program to entertain some younger girls who came with the adults to the Y. W. C. A. Today that group has grown into a national movement of hundreds of thousands of younger girls who come to the Y. W. C. A. by themselves and make their own programs and share in the life of an Association that includes 16 to 60 year old in a working partnership. Such a partnership is of essential significance in a day when democracy as a way of life demands that both old and young must accept responsibility as well as expect advantage, where each must learn to give as well as take, where differences of contribution are respected and used. The Young Women's Christian Association is proud to include in its membership the Girl Reserves who find in its resources for enriching their lives and who in turn contribute to the total life of the Association that eagerness and insight which is the unique contribution of youth."

That Senior class play "Poor Dear Edgar" really rated a much larger crowd than that which witnessed the first presentation last evening. The small audience report it a very entertaining offering. It will be repeated again this evening at 8:15 o'clock and seats are still available.

Didn't take Old Sol long to dissipate the frost that covered the landscape at dawn today.

Fourth of July falls on Friday this year, and according to present plans of the Citizens' committee there will be plenty of entertainment for those who remain at home the entire week.

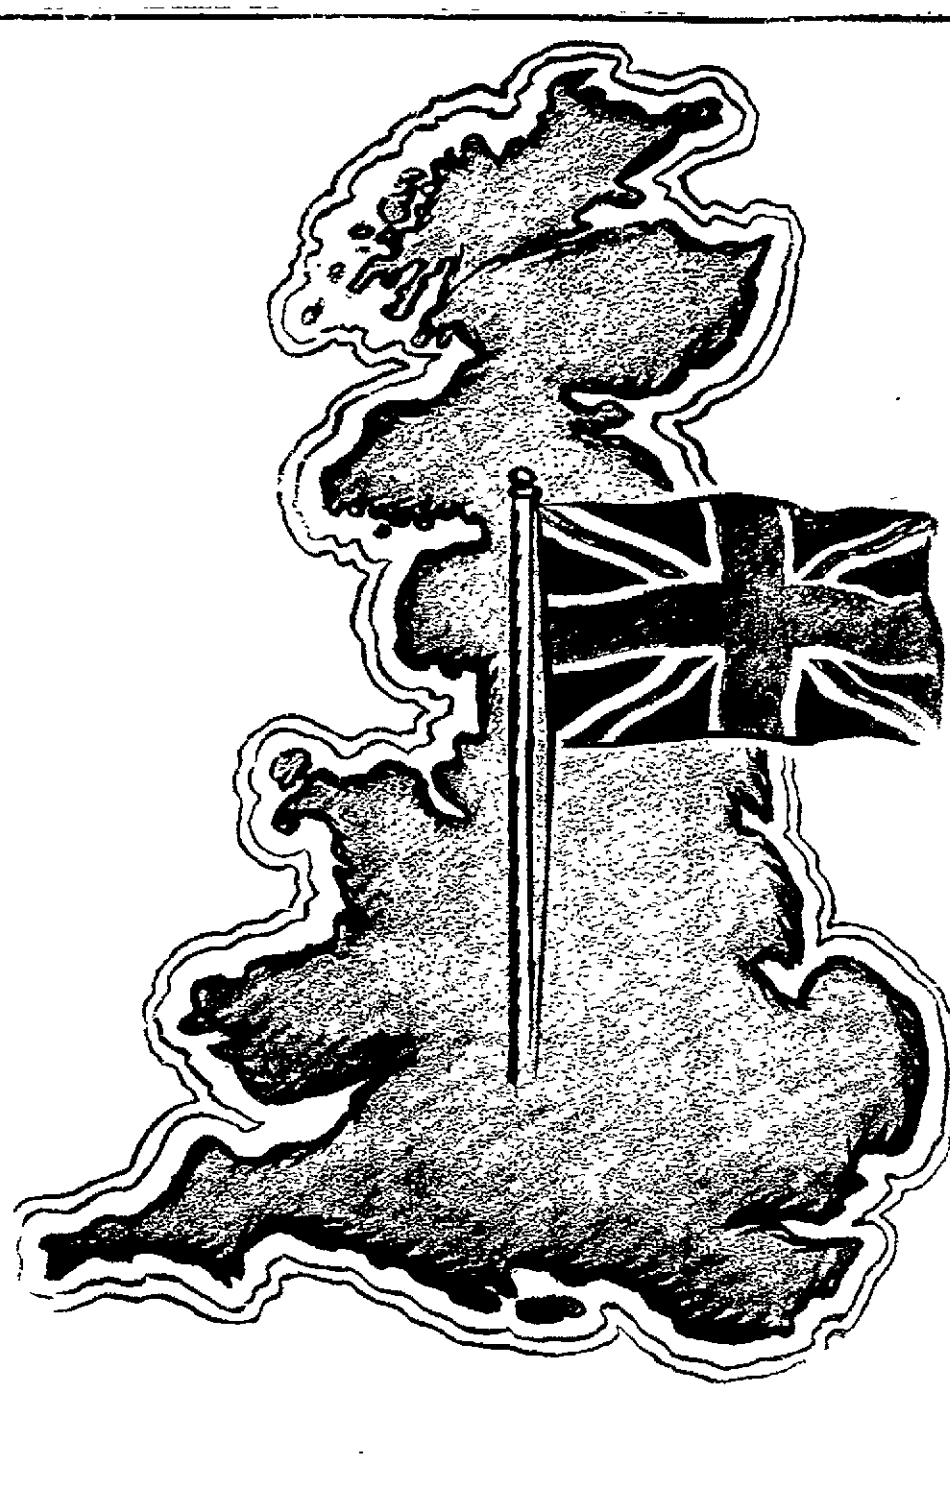

Surrounding hillsides are rapidly turning from brown to green!

YOUR NATION'S CAPITOL

By Peter Edson

The Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

You Think You're Dumb About Affairs of State? Brother, Read Questions Your Lawmakers Ask

Washington, April 25.—There are no two ways about it—functions of the administration of your federal government are so complex that it is impossible for anyone not entirely familiar with the workings of any particular agency to keep track of what it does. Even most members of Congress who passed the laws creating most of these agencies, or at least appropriate the money to keep them going, are just as confused as a taxpayer.

This sad observation is made today after watching Sidney Hillman for the fourth time appear before a congressional committee to tell the story of his job as associate director general of the Office of Production Management.

In all four acts, Hillman had to go through the same routine, explaining with superhuman patience things which every congressman should know but obviously doesn't. It's enough to make you cry.

What these congressmen have trouble in fathoming is the simple fact that OPM was set up by the President as a purely advisory board, and that it has no judicial or executive powers. Equally incomprehensible has been the fact that although the OPM has a labor division which Hillman heads, the function of that labor division is principally to insure an adequate supply of labor for defense industries and not to settle labor disputes—a function assigned to the Conciliation Service in the Department of Labor and in the National Defense Mediation Board.

Inability or unwillingness to retain this picture is most apparent in the questions which Hillman answered repeatedly. Why hadn't he personally moved in to settle the coal strike or the Ford strike or any other strike? The obvious answer that he had no authority to do so had no standing whatever before the committee.

Hillman was head of the labor division of OPM and OPM was running the defense effort, wasn't it? Therefore, Hillman should have done something about it. The inference was that Hillman was personally responsible for all this and it was now up to Congress to set things right. No wonder perspiration popped out on his forehead and a roll of his neck stood out above his coal collar as he patiently, smilingly argued it out without once losing his temper.

Every other key witness before these committees has had a similar experience. John D. Biggers was persistently asked about labor and priorities, though he is the expert on production. Secretary of War Stimson, and Secretary of Navy Knox were both asked about production, and so was William H. Davis, vice chairman of the Mediation Board. Irrelevant and unnecessary questions fly all over these committee rooms and what (Turn to Page Nine)

STORIES IN STAMPS

Mexico Fights Malaria With Mosquito Stamp

MEXICO'S battle against malaria and yellow fever has an important place in the stamp collector's album. Mexico's stamp above, picturing a giant mosquito towering above a man, was compulsory on all mail. Proceeds from the sale of stamps helped fight disease.

Malaria is transmitted by the anopheles mosquito; yellow fever by the stegomyia. The common mosquito is not known to be a carrier of disease.

Mosquitoes were the worst enemies of the builders of the Panama Canal. Disease halted French construction, and it was not until Col. William C. Gorgas conquered the insects, that the U. S. project could be completed. Colonel Gorgas is pictured on both Canal Zone and Panama stamps.

Dr. Walter Reed, pictured on the U. S. 5-cent stamp of the scientists group of Famous Americans, proved mosquitoes carried yellow fever in Cuba in 1898. Dr. Reed's experiments were based on theories of Dr. Carlos Finlay, whom Cuba has honored with a portrait stamp. Sir Ronald Ross, British physician who revealed the life history of malaria parasites in mosquitoes, is not included in philately's gallery.

The microscope reveals that soiled dishcloths are inhabited by millions of germs. It further reveals how efficiently Clorox disinfects, for Clorox is intensified in germicidal action. Clorox also bleaches dishcloths and mops snowy-white (brightens fast colors), makes them fresh-smelling, sanitary.

Bathrooms may look clean yet harbor invisible germ dangers. Clorox-clean bathrooms are not only visibly clean but sanitary, too. For Clorox removes numerous stains, provides intensified deodorizing and disinfecting action in routine household cleansing.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The late Sidney Howard was a big, friendly, blond-headed, resolute, forthright sort of character who loathed pussy-footers and who believed in giving you the shirt off his back if you deserved it.

When he met a tragic death on a farm a few years ago his great and good friend Robert E. Sherwood and other members of the Playwrights Company created a Sidney Howard fund, to be given annually to some deserving, needy young playwright.

Last season this award, which amounts to $1,500, went to Robert Ardrey, but this year it has been turned over to the Authors League Fund with provision that it be used to aid deserving young dramatists.

I well recall the day Howard arrived in a blue funk at Grand Central Station after "It Can't Happen Here" had been barred from the screen by the Hays office. There had been a protest from Italy, and the Hays office decided that the story was to be junked. Howard had been on the coast dramatizing the Sinclair Lewis novel for the screen. When he heard that it had been called off he hurried to New York, and the "quotes" he gave the reporters who met him at the train sizzled the Broadway columns for days.

Howard, though he wrote a number of original dramas, is best remembered for his dramatizations of novels. He dramatized "Dodsworth" from the Sinclair Lewis novel, and he wrote the screen adaptation of "Gone With the Wind." Shortly after this he figured in that tragic episode that left Broadway so bewildered and stunned. On a rural retreat, kicking about a farm, he was crushed against a barn wall by a five ton tractor. He never knew what hit him.

OLD BARNEY GALLANT, the Greenwich Village scribe, has taken time out from his keeping to write his memoirs. They will appear serially in Cosmopolitan magazine under the title "My Past Pursues Me." The time he took "off," he says, was between 4 a.m., which is closing time, and seven a.m., which is his most to his shoulders.

There is an ancient piccolo player in the Village who shuffles around in rags carrying four or five piccolos sticking out of his pockets. He pauses on street corners and, after playing a few tunes, passes the hat. He has long straggly grey hair reaching almost to his shoulders.

BUTUS BEST
ED OF EARLY
D FLOWERS

Warren—The trailing arbutus, Mayflower, is probably the earliest of all the early wild flowers of eastern United States. R. Williams, Director of the Department of Forests and Waters, said today. The white delicately fragrant flowers appear during April and on these prostrate or trailing plants are here in abundance but are scarce in appearance since they have stems. These plants grow in acid soils and in natural places are found in spreading on rather poor, dry soils. Individuals sometimes attempt to transplant some of their arbutus but find that they rarely succeed. Successful transplanting is accomplished by performing work during very early spring in sandy well-aerated soils. Care is taken to lift a large portion of the root without disturbing the roots to any great extent. Instead of transplanting to the chosen site it is preferable to keep these plants in a frame or coolhouse and until new roots are formed should receive little or no light. The best method of propagating arbutus is by the seed.

North cashes two heart tricks. West ruffs the third round. Bidding probably indicates North has the king of diamonds and a club loser in the hand. If course, if the declarer could see that North also held the queen-jack-ten of clubs, he might out the hearts, pick up the clubs and then throw North in the third club. But that is not the simple line of play is for declarer to cash all of his clubs, saving in dummy one club. North is compelled to hold at least two diamonds if he has the king, plus a heart. Then he can cash only two clubs.
Now the declarer cashes the ace of king of clubs, winning the second club in dummy. North is out of clubs. Dummy leads heart, North has to win and is forced to lead into declarer's ace of queen of diamonds.

The berry-like fruit, which is often borne in abundance or vigorous female plants, ripens at the same season as the wild strawberry. A single fruit bears as many as 500 seeds which are eagerly sought after by ants, snails and birds. The seeds are easily separated from the pulp by rubbing between the fingers and should be sown at once in well-drained shallow boxes or paper pots which contain a mixture of finely sifted kalmia peat and clean sand. If covered with a glass and kept away from direct sunlight, only one or two waterings of these seedbeds will be required. The seeds germinate in about one month and the small seedlings often require protection from ants. This can be accomplished by setting the seed boxes on pots inverted in saucers of water. Since trailing arbutus is a shrub it is protected in the State Forests and on other lands in Pennsylvania. Mr. Williams invites flower lovers to visit the State Forests to view the Mayflowers while they are in bloom but urges that they be very careful with fire.

Monster Tank Launched

Here is the first of the great new fleet of monster 1-3 medium (28 ton) tanks to be delivered by Chrysler Corporation to the United States Army as part of its contribution to the National Defense Program. Before the year ends hundreds more like this one will be coming off the assembly lines to strengthen America's mechanized forces. This tank, the most powerful weapon of its type in the world—literally a rolling fortress—was turned over to Major General Charles from the third round.

M. Wesson, U. S. Army Chief of Ordnance, at ceremonies in the new Chrysler Tank Arsenal. Prior to delivery, its unusual maneuverability, tremendous striking force and devastating fire power were demonstrated. Finished well ahead of schedule, this tank is one of two pilot models which the Corporation built even before its $20,000,000 tank plant was completed. When full operation is reached, more than 10,000 workers will be employed here.

West, leading, probably indicates
North has the king of diamonds and a club loser in the diamond suit.
Of course, if the declarer could sure that North also held the jack-ten of clubs, he might out the hearts, pick up the trumps and then throw North in the third club. But that is not much.
The sample line of play is for declarer to cash all of his trumps, saving in dummy one trump, one diamond and three clubs. North is compelled to hold east two diamonds if he has the king plus a heart. Then he can win only two clubs.
Now the declarer cashes the ace king of clubs, winning the second club in dummy. North is out of clubs. Dummy leads heart, North has to win and is led into declarer's ace king of diamonds.

The berry-like fruit which is often borne in abundance or vigorous female plants, ripens at the same season as the wild strawberry. A single fruit bears as many as 500 seeds which are eagerly sought after by ants, snails and birds. The seeds are easily separated from the pulp by rubbing between the fingers and should be sown at once in well-drained shallow boxes or paper pots which contain a mixture of finely sifted kalmia peat and clean sand. If covered with a glass and kept away from direct sunlight, only one or two waterings of these seedbeds will be required. The seeds germinate in about one month and the small seedlings often require protection from ants. This can be accomplished by setting the seed boxes on pots inverted in saucers of water. Since trailing arbutus is a shrub it is protected in the State Forests and on other lands in Pennsylvania. Mr. Williams invites flower lovers to visit the State Forests to view the Mayflowers while they are in bloom but urges that they be very careful with them.

Monster Tank Launched

Here is the first of the great new fleet of monster M3 medium (28 ton) tanks to be delivered by Chrysler Corporation to the United States Army as part of its contribution to the National Defense Program. Before the year ends hundreds more like this one will be coming off the assembly lines to strengthen America's mechanized forces. This tank, the most powerful weapon of its type in the world—literally a rolling fortress—was turned over to Major General Charles M. Wesson, U. S. Army Chief of Ordnance, at ceremonies in the new Chrysler Tank Arsenal. Prior to delivery, its unusual maneuverability, tremendous striking force and devastating fire power were demonstrated. Finished well ahead of schedule, this tank is one of two pilot models which the Corporation built even before its $20,000,000 tank plant was completed. When full operation is reached, more than 10,000 workers will be employed here.

Senior Class Play Is Excellent One And Is Deserving Of Better Support Tonight

The selecting committee for this year's senior class play deserves especial commendation in the choice of "Poor Dear Edgar", by William Davidson. It is one of the best plays seen in spring production at the high school in some seasons and abounds with excellent lines and most amusing situations.

A small but appreciative audience viewed the first performance in the high school auditorium last evening. Late reports from the ticket committee today indicate some fine seats still available, upstairs and down, for the second and final presentation at 8:15 o'clock this evening.

A carefully chosen cast and the director, Miss Anna Louise Kahl, have worked diligently in preparing a well coached, line-perfect entertainment and deserve better support on the part of students, parents and school patrons than last night's seat sales.

Headed by Joe Summerville, president of the High School Dramatic Club, in the characterization of Edgar, the cast was made up of the best talent of the class, including Jean Morrison, Harry Conroy, Patty Knapp, Charles Tranter, Lois E. Johnson, Patty Hand, Bill Granquist, Lizzie Larson, Jeanne McGarry, Jane Sherwood and Earl Campbell, given in order of their appearance.

Incidental music for the program was supplied by the high school string ensemble under the able direction of Harry A. Summers. In keeping with custom, Miss Kahl was given a gift from the cast, Harry Conroy making the presentation just before the third act. Her brief response was a fine tribute to the hard-working personnel.

Senior class plays come but once a season and it is hoped that tonight's audience will be one worthy of the weeks of effort that have been entailed in casting, rehearsing and producing "Poor Dear Edgar."

Girl Scouts Render Service

Sewing and knitting for the Red Cross and Bundles for Britain are just two of the activities being carried on by the Girl Scout Service Bureau, organized for girls over 12 years of age by the Warren County Council, Girl Scouts of America, which is one of the seven participating agencies in the Warren Community Chest. Pictured above are two members of this important group with samples of their work.

Not only has the Service Bureau spent 163 hours in sewing and knitting, but the girls also have spent much time with other volunteer tasks, including housework and serving, delivering office work and library service.

Under this plan, volunteer workers are supplied to any agency having need of extra help for tasks which are within the powers or the training of the girls. Since October, girls have given 494½ hours of unpaid service.

Altogether, there are 647 girls between seven and 18 years of age in 40 Girl Scout and Brownie Scout troops in Warren county, with 82 volunteer leaders in charge.

Camping has played a big part in the Girl Scout program, with 129 girls spending one or more weeks at the summer camp in 1940. In addition, many others attended day camps and participated in over night or troop camping.

Girl Scouting has as its fundamental aim, the development of girls along physical, mental, emotional, moral and spiritual lines through a program of arts and crafts, international friendship, community life, health and safety, homemaking, music and dancing, nature, literature and dramatics, sports and games and outdoor activities.

Luncheon - Meeting Of Methodist Women

Mrs. Myron Grosch headed the social committee for yesterday's luncheon-meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, held in Founders hall at one o'clock. Assisting her were Mrs. Will Clark, Mrs. Gilbert Loree, Mrs. George Grosch and Miss Marie Gutzler.

Mrs. E. S. Briggs, president, conducted the regular business session in Dunham parlors, with Mrs. A. F. Kottcamp in charge of the devotional period. She spoke of the spring meeting of the Jamestown District, W. S. C. S., held Tuesday at Fredonia, N. Y., and compared what the local group has accomplished with activities of some of the other units, reporting the result as most encouraging.

After the singing of hymns, routine business was taken up and announcements made. Since Mrs. C. J. Crary has resigned as treasurer of the group, Miss Joanna Bright, assistant, was named to complete the unexpired term. It was stated that Mrs. Harry Cogswell will head the committee for the Isabelle Hazeltine Auxiliary's rummage sale on May 8 and 9 and 10 in the store room next to the Carver Hotel.

Mrs. E. H. Truesdell, program chairman, then presented Mrs. Eugene Kuester, of the Conservatory staff, who played three delightful piano selections, Bach's chorals, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring"; "The Two Skylarks"; and a Pastoral of her own composition.

Mrs. T. E. Colley led in the closing prayer.

Senior Class Play Is Excellent One And Is Deserving Of Better Support Tonight

The selecting committee for this year's senior class play deserves especial commendation in the choice of "Poor Dear Edgar," three-act college life comedy by William Davidson. It is one of the best plays seen in spring production at the high school in some seasons and abounds with excellent lines and most amusing situations.

A small but appreciative audience viewed the first performance in the high school auditorium last evening. Late reports from the ticket committee today indicate some fine seats still available, upstairs and down, for the second and final presentation at 8:15 o'clock this evening.

A carefully chosen cast and the director, Miss Anna Louise Kahl, have worked diligently in preparing a well-coached, line-perfect entertainment and deserve better support on the part of students, parents and school patrons than last night's seat sales.

Headed by Joe Summerville, president of the High School Dramatic Club, in the characterization of Edgar, the cast was made up of the best talent of the class, including Jean Morrison, Harry Conroy, Patty Knapp, Charles Tranter, Lois E. Johnson, Patty Hand, Bill Granquist, Lizzie Larson, Jeanne McGarry, Jane Sherwood and Earl Campbell, given in order of their appearance.

Incidental music for the program was supplied by the high school string ensemble under the able direction of Harry A. Summers.

In keeping with custom, Miss Kahl was given a gift from the cast. Harry Conroy making the presentation just before the third act. Her brief response was a fine tribute to the hard-working personnel.

Senior class plays come but once a season and it is hoped that tonight's audience will be one worthy of the weeks of effort that have been entailed in casting, rehearsing and producing "Poor Dear Edgar."

Girl Scouts Render Service

Sewing and knitting for the Red Cross and Bibles for Britain are just two of the activities being carried on by the Girl Scout Service Bureau, organized for girls over 12 years of age by the Warren County Council, Girl Scouts of America, which is one of the seven participating agencies in the Warren Community Chest. Pictured above are two members of this important group with samples of their work.

Not only has the Service Bureau spent 163 hours in sewing and knitting, but the girls also have spent much time with other volunteer tasks, including housework and serving, delivering bundles, running errands, doing office work and library service.

Under this plan, volunteer workers are supplied to any agency having need of extra help for tasks which are within the powers or the training of the girls. Since October, girls have given 494½ hours of unpaid service.

Altogether, there are 647 girls between seven and 18 years of age in 40 Girl Scout and Brownie Scout troops in Warren county, with 82 volunteer leaders in charge.

Camping has played a big part in the Girl Scout program, with 129 girls spending one or more weeks at the summer camp in 1940. In addition, many others attended day camps and participated in over night or troop camping.

Girl Scouting has as its fundamental aim the development of girls along physical, mental, emotional, moral and spiritual lines through a program of arts and crafts, international friendship, community life, health and safety, homemaking, music and dancing, nature, literature and dramatics, sports and games and outdoor activities.

The program is designed for three age groups: Brownie Scouts, 7 to 10 years, inclusive; Girl Scouts, 10 to 14 years, inclusive.

County Agent's News

Apply Early, if Lawns Need Help This Spring

While it is natural for home owners to be most concerned about their lawns in the spring, adequate fall treatment would relieve them of most spring worries, says County Agent O. C. Tritt.

Liming and fertilizing are the first operations to put into effect where lawns need help this spring.

If no lime has been used for several years, apply 1 bag of pulverized limestone to each 1,000 square feet of lawn area. If the soil is sweet, no lime is needed. County Agent Tritt can make a quick, simple test where there is any doubt of soil sweetness.

Spring fertilizing has several advantages as compared to fall applications. To be effective, spring applications must be made early, as soon as growth starts. Late treatments stand to encourage crab grass and other annual weeds.

A mixture of 100 pounds of 4-12-4 or 1-10-4 and 100 pounds of soy-burn meal or cottonseed meal or tanabe is excellent for early spring fertilization. Apply uniformly at the rate of 20 pounds to 1,000 square feet, Mr. Tritt recommends.

Hollywood Sights &amp; Sound

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Men of Boys Town." Screenplay by James H. McGuinness. Directed by Norman Taurog. Principals: Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Bobs Watson, Larry Nunn, Darryl Hickman, Henry O'Neill, Mary Nash, Lee J. Cobb.

They shouldn't do this to us, but we'll all enjoy a wonderful cry just the same.

Here Father Flanagan and his boys are faced with brimming cups of trouble. There are two major problems in the picture: the first, ever present, is financial—Father Flanagan is always taking in more boys than funds permit, is now faced with the loss of Boys Town. The second deals with cruel, criminal-making so-called "reformatories."

The story opens with Father Flanagan's rescue of one victim of the system (Nunn) and Boys Town's efforts to reclaim him. When Whitey (Rooney) is adopted by a wealthy couple in the town "a thousand miles away" where the reformatory is located, we get close-up views of the institution's methods. Whitey, through trying to help a child toughie who has escaped (Hickman), is himself incarcerated. What you see there makes you believe Father Flanagan's plea for "250 Boys Town" is too modest—there should be a thousand or more.

That's why it's easy to forgive the movie for pulling out all the stops as it plays on us. No news Tracy's inspired, quiet and human interpretation of the priest; real news is Rooney's Whitey, a performance devoid of Rooney's nugging except in one comical sequence where it is deliberate and effective. Find: young Hickman, previously seen in "The Grapes of Wrath."

"THE LADY FROM CHEYENNE." Screenplay by Warren Duff and Kathryn Scola from story by Jonathan Finn and Thera O'Leary. Directed by Frank Lloyd. Principals: Loretta Young, Robert Preston, Edward Arnold, Frank Craven, Gladys George, Jessie Ralph, Stanley Fields, Willie Best.

In the Wyoming territory women got the many decades before their sisters elsewhere.

This engaging tale tells how its makers "prefer to believe" it happened.

Prim schoolmarm Loretta is disgusted with lawlessness as it is permitted under male rule, undertakes to "clean up" her town by besieging the legislature in Cheyenne. She finds that votes-for-women is a laughing matter to that body, and can't get anywhere until, with the aid of a dance-hall biddy (George), she discovers the feminine approach. It's a different turn to the western film, and it's a different Loretta it presents.

"THE GREAT LIE." Screenplay by Lenore Coffee from Polan Banks' novel. Directed by Edmund Goulding. Principals: Bette Davis, George Brent, Mary Astor, Lucile Watson, Hattie McDaniel.

Pete, engaged to Maggie, marries Sandra (Astor), famed pianist, while under the influence. A few days later he discovers the marriage was illegal. Outraged, offering remittance if she will give up her career, he is rejected and returns to Maggie.

After their marriage, Pete leaves on an aviation project in the jungle, is lost. Maggie makes a deal with Sandra: a trust fund in exchange for Pete's child which Sandra is expecting. Off in the desert the child is born. Pete, of course, returns safe—whereupon Sandra, still in love with him, uses the child as a threat over Maggie's head.

What we call "a great woman's picture"—it's a shrewd cat-fight—"The Great Lie" is so persuasively acted and narrated you almost forget that such a sensible, forthright person as Maggie wouldn't have kept the "lie" from Pete a minute.

Surprising performance: Miss Astor's. Better than usual: Miss Davis.

Suggested theme song: "Yes, sir, that's my baby!"

Society News

Musical Notes

In a new column by this title, Burton Morris writes for the Community Concert Service that the newest good will gesture from South America to the United States is the valuable prize being offered to some pianist from this country by Guiomar Novaes of Brazil. He writes:

The prize consists of: (1) A round trip ticket from New York to Rio de Janeiro. (2) A tour of at least four concerts in Brazil. (3) A guarantee against default from concert expense and the reward in cash of money received over actual expenses of the concert.

Those eligible for the Guiomar Novaes Award are: (1) An American pianist up to 30 years of age. (2) All the winners from last and the present year of the different organizations which hold outstanding contests; such as the National Federation of Women's Clubs, Naumburg Foundation, Adult Educational Council of Chicago, Town Hall Endowment Series and others that may be appointed by judges or the managers of this project. (3) Also eligible and competitors may be pianists of ability appointed by a member of the committee of judges or by the supervisor each one having the power of appointing two candidates.

The contest will be held in New York before Aug. 1941. Each contestant must present two different recital programs and play as many pieces from those programs as the jury desires. Boss of the ceremonies will be Columbia Concerts president, Arthur Judson.

Maybe some individual or organization in the United States will soon return the compliment Mme. Novaes is paying us by setting up similar machinery to bring talented musicians from South America to our concert halls.

A belated Easter note: Helen Jepson, former Titusville girl on tour with the Metropolitan Opera Association, wears an unusual spring bonnet. Instead of cloth or paper flowers, she sports the real blossoms! They are kept fresh in a tiny concealed water bottle on the front of the hat.

Mention of Doris Doe in these columns yesterday brought to mind the following from Pierre Key's "Keynotes": If you didn't find due credit given Doris Doe in the last Keynotes summing up on the Metropolitan Opera's current season, please do so now for she is a valuable contralto member of that organization . . . and do you know that each of the eight guest conductors to preside over Philharmonic in its coming 100th birthday anniversary will put on his programs at least one composition by an American.

DOCTOR DEPRIVES HIMSELF OF VITAMIN C—AND GETS SCURVY!

In a recent thorough experiment, Dr. John H. Crandon, assistant professor of surgery at Harvard Medical College, deliberately induced in himself a severe case of scurvy, a disease caused by lack of vitamin C.

Dr. Crandon lived on cheese and crackers and black coffee for six months. Other necessary vitamins were administered separately each day, but at no time did the doctor have any food containing vitamin C. Tests made each day during the experiment showed that fatigue developed soon after the supply of vitamin C was stopped.

Dr. Crandon demonstrated that it takes at least six months to acquire scurvy when all dietary needs—except for vitamin C—are filled. From the experiment it was inferred that when a person develops scurvy quickly there are other disease-producing conditions at work.

Halibut Belongs To Flounder Family

Flounders are generally known as delectable food fish. But few people realize that the halibut is a member of the flounder family—not only a member, but the largest fish in the flounder clan.

Steaked and broiled, there are few foods that rival the halibut in taste and in health-giving properties. At the market it is not unusual to see a 200-pounder and sometimes one double that weight is caught. A cold water fish, halibut is found the year round in Northern waters, both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. The oil from halibut liver has great vitamin D content and is used extensively for health purposes. The oil from the entire body is rich in this vital vitamin.

FACTS ABOUT FOOD

A new week was added to the list of national food anniversaries March 17-22 in National Dried Fruit Week, sponsored by the Prune Growers of California and the Dried Fruit Research Institute. Since that date many merchants have featured prunes and apricots in store and window displays and food pages have given extra space to recipes built around dried fruits.

Turkey producers generally intend to raise about 3 per cent less birds than last year, according to a recent Federal report. The number that will actually reach maturity for Thanksgiving tables will depend on many factors. There are about 14 per cent fewer turkeys for breeders than a year ago, with a possible shortage of eggs for hatching in some localities. The stocks of frozen turkeys in cold storage in the United States March 1 amounted to 50,188,000, a slight reduction from the 63,811,000 pounds reported a year ago.

Florida strawberries and tomatoes from Southern Florida were hard hit by early March frosts, so that shipments will continue at below normal until late April, or May. Tomatoes in some sections of Florida were frozen, so that the crop now is estimated at $50,000,000, compared to $85,000,000 in 1940, which was a low year because of the January freeze. In Louisiana, the major early state for strawberries, frosts also have slowed up shipments, so that carlot shipments will not reach a peak until late April.

Canned soup helps to "stretch" gravy for meat pie or other purposes. Try adding 1 can of condensed consommé with half that amount of water to flour and butter blended in a saucepan. Mock turtle soup is another possibility.

STEAK DINNER INDUCES SLAYER TO ADMIT CRIME

Camden, N. J., April 25.—(P)—A juicy steak dinner was a big help to authorities investigating the baseball bat slaying of Mrs. Agnes McBurney, 38-year-old former rodeo star and mother of six.

The appetizing meal accomplished last night what detectives were unable to do in a day of questioning Robert Cox, 40-year-old negro former WPA worker.

"You boys have been good to me and given me a good feed. I'll confess now. I did it," Prosecutor Samuel B. Orlando said Cox told him.

He pleaded guilty to murder charges and was held without bail. Orlando said Cox related how he asked for a drink of water at the McBurney farmhouse, hit the family dog with a stick when it growled and was pushed off the steps by Mrs. McBurney.

"I looked for some money then. I needed it to pay my board with I couldn't find any, so I took a radio off a table.

"I walked about a mile through the woods with it until I got it home. I put it in a basket and covered it with a burlap bag. I borrowed a quarter from a friend and went into Philadelphia and hooked the radio for $3.50."

Mrs. McBurney was alone at the house in nearby Blackwood when Cox appeared Wednesday. Her 19-year-old son Robert found her battered body when he returned from school. Coroner Paul R. Pilatt said "not a whole bone was left in her skull."

BANQUET GIVEN FOR SHEFFIELD BASKETBALLERS

Sheffield, April 25.—The officials and members of the Pennsylvania Bottle Company basketball team, Sheffield's leading independent club, were the guests of honor at a dinner given at Pittsburgh Inn Wednesday evening by the team's sponsor.

A pleasing finale to the club's 1940-41 campaign, the dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock. Seventeen guests were seated at the table, which was decorated with a centerpiece of white spring flowers and lighted white tapers, one at either end.

No formal program had been arranged, the squad departing immediately after the dinner for Jamestown, where they attended a show.

Team members present included Lagrant Peterson, manager; Earle Klingsmith, scorekeeper, and players Joe Korchak, Lamont Peterson, Carl Casperson, John Sabat, John Petruny, Junior Kunselman, Steve Shultz, Mike Otto, George Wasil and Joe Pastrick. Factory officials William Gallagher, T. E. Kirch, Larue Best and Chester Eddinger, and Karl Barr, Times-Mirror correspondent, were the other guests.

The team played 37 games during the recent campaign, winning 20 and losing 17 against the best opposition in the district.

State Government Commission Plans Study Of Obsolete Laws

The various investigating bodies of the capitol.

This broad program will be laid before the full commission of representatives and senators at a meeting May 7. Paul O. Moomaw, director of the commission, said the actual work of the studies would be undertaken a short time thereafter.

The commission was Republican-controlled from 1939 to 1941 and now is dominated by the Democrats because they won a majority in the assembly.

The first step toward a new program was taken this week. Moomaw disclosed the adoption of a resolution to continue a study of unemployment compensation for findings of fact about a proposed merit rating system. Under such a system, an employer who stabilizes his payroll with little turnover in a year would be granted lower payroll taxes.

The commission also intends to take up a study of space leased by the government outside the capitol. Moomaw said rentals for these buildings cost the state $1,600,000 a year.

The commission was created in recent years to make such studies of government expense and procedure, with recommendations to the legislature.

Rep. Achterman also said the administration's tax bills "most likely" would come out of committee next week along with some appropriation bills. He added that unless the senate concurred with his resolution for an inquiry into conditions at the 10 state hospitals next week, the house would proceed with its own investigation.

and for opportunity. Used for those ends it is invincible.

The state's chief executive, who has termed Pennsylvania "the arsenal of America" pointed out that $13,500,000,000 in defense contracts, a billion of them in this state, had been awarded up to April 1.

It takes 300,000,000,000 average-size germs to weigh a pound, according to estimates.

Critical Stage Reached In G. M. Controversy

(From Page One)

Meanwhile, union and corporation clashed over the effect of a strike on General Motors' national defense production. General Motors has approximately $700,000,000 in defense orders.

Union officials have promised not to call out men working on defense if a strike is ordered, but C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, said it would be impossible, because of inter-related tasks of plants and employees, to strike and still protect defense work.

The General Motors chief ridiculed the union's proposal as "a half strike."

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said that "there is still a very substantial difference between the parties at this time on wages. The union shop is still in dispute also." He reported "very little" remaining in dispute on seniority, shop committees and related issues.

Wilson said he believed the demand of the union for a 10 cents an hour wage increase was unwarranted. He also declared that "we're not going to give them a closed shop or write up any weasel words to give them a closed shop under any different name."

It is prepared to act sternly, however, where deliberate violations are indicated. The alien registration division expects to have a force of more than 200 special investigators to follow leads developed during the search.

"Whoopie" Returned To Co. Jail After One-day Vacation

Stripped of his rank of commandant of the Warren county jail trustees, Clyde "Whoopie" Reynolds is in solitary confinement at the jail today.

Reynolds, who walked away Wednesday afternoon, was apprehended last evening by local police who had been informed by a motorist that the escaped inmate of the jail had been seen walking along the tracks near Irvine.

When taken into custody, Reynolds was walking toward Warren on the railroad right of way at Starbuck.

Reynolds was sentenced Monday morning to serve 30 days in the jail after pleading guilty to a charge of public intoxication.

STEAK DINNER INDUCES SLAYER TO ADMIT CRIME

Camden, N. J., April 25.—(AP)—A juicy steak dinner was a big help to authorities investigating the baseball bat slaying of Mrs. Agnes McBurney, 38-year-old former rodeo star and mother of six.

The appetizing meal accomplished last night what detectives were unable to do in a day of questioning Robert Cox, 40-year-old negro former WPA worker.

"You boys have been good to me and given me a good feed. I'll confess now. I did it," Prosecutor Samuel B. Orlando said Cox told him.

He pleaded guilty to murder charges and was held without bail. Orlando said Cox related how he asked for a drink of water at the McBurney farmhouse, hit the family dog with a stick when it growled and was pushed off the steps by Mrs. McBurney.

"I looked for some money then. I needed it to pay my board with. I couldn't find any, so I took a radio off a table."

"I walked about a mile through the woods with it until I got it home. I put it in a basket and covered it with a burlap bag. I borrowed a quarter from a friend and went into Philadelphia and hooked the radio for $3.50."

Mrs. McBurney was alone at the house in nearby Blackwood when Cox appeared Wednesday. Her 19-year-old son Robert found her battered body when he returned from school. Coroner Paul R. Platt said "a whole bone was left in her skull."

BANQUET GIVEN FOR SHEFFIELD BASKETBALLERS

Sheffield, April 25.—The officials and members of the Pennsylvania Bottle Company basketball team, Sheffield's leading independent court club, were the guests of honor at a dinner given at Pittsburgh Inn Wednesday evening by the team's sponsor.

A pleasing finale to the club's 1940-41 campaign, the dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock. Seventeen guests were seated at the table, which was decorated with a centerpiece of white spring flowers and lighted white tapers, one at either end.

No formal program had been arranged, the squad departing immediately after the dinner for Jamestown, where they attended a show.

Team members present included Lagrant Peterson, manager; Earle Klingensmith, scorekeeper; and players Joe Korchak, Lamont Peterson, Carl Casperson, John Sabat, John Petruny, Junior Kunseman, Steve Shultz, Mike Otto, George Wasil and Joe Pastrick. Factory officials William Gallagher, T. E. Kirch, Larue Best and Chester Eddinger, and Karl Barr, Times-Mirror correspondent, were the other guests.

The team played 37 games during the recent campaign, winning 20 and losing 17 against the best opposition in the district.

The various investigating bodies of the capital.

This broad program will be laid before the full commission of representatives and senators at a meeting May 7. Paul O. Moomaw, director of the commission, said the actual work of the studies would be undertaken a short time thereafter.

The commission was Republican-controlled from 1939 to 1941 and now is dominated by the Democrats because they won a majority in the assembly.

The first step toward a new program was taken this week. Moomaw disclosed, with the adoption of a resolution to continue a study of unemployment compensation for findings of fact about a proposed merit rating system. Under such a system, an employer who stabilizes his payroll with little turnover in a year would be granted lower payroll taxes.

The commission also intends to take up a study of space leased by the government outside the capital. Moomaw said rentals for these buildings cost the state $1,600,000 a year.

The commission was created in recent years to make such studies of government expense and procedure, with recommendations to the legislature.

Rep. Achteman also said the administration's tax bills "most likely" would come out of committee next week along with some appropriation bills. He added that unless the senate concurred with his resolution for an inquiry into conditions at the 10 state hospitals next week, the house would proceed with its own investigation.

The state's chief executive, who has termed Pennsylvania "the arsenal of America" pointed out that $13,500,000,000 in defense contracts, a billion of them in this state, had been awarded up to April 1.

Meanwhile, union and corporation clashed over the effect of a strike on General Motors' national defense production. General Motors has approximately $700,000,000 in defense orders.

Union officials have promised not to call out men working on defense if a strike is ordered, but C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, said it would be impossible, because of inter-related tasks of plants and employees, to strike and still protect defense work.

The General Motors chief ridiculed the union's proposal as "a half strike."

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said that "there is still a very substantial difference between the parties at this time on wages. The union shop is still in dispute also." He reported "very little" remaining in dispute on seniority, shop committees and related issues.

Wilson had said he believed the demand of the union for a 10 cents an hour wage increase was unwarranted. He also declared that "we're not going to give them a closed shop or write up any weasel words to give them a closed shop under any different name."

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDDERMER

YESTERDAY: At last Eileen Gardner has given Jordan Estill his wedding papers. Jordan had objected when she took a poorly-paid radio job, and had arranged for her to sing concerts—and to marry him. But now Eileen has convinced Jordan that he must wait a long time, probably fruitlessly, and sent him away. And the reason she could do it was a radiogram from a man named Martin whom she has seen once, and never will forget.

Chapter Ten

Answer For Martin

EILEEN stood still in his hold with that passivity which is more of a denial than any resistance. His arms dropped and she moved a little away from him.

"Good-bye Jordan. Good luck," she said.

She went into the little cottage.

She took care not to be early enough at breakfast to say good-bye to the party. She, unseen, saw them driving off. Lucille Anders had seen to it that she was in the front seat beside Jordan. She went in again. It was one of the cottages which—had to be, of course—furnished with a piano. She sat down and went to work on that night's songs with her little traveling clock facing her.

Later, her nervous fingers brushed through the pile of fan mail. Yes, here it was, copied on cheap yellow paper they all used. She stared at it, trying to make it tell her more.

"S. S. Esthonia. Good for you, Eileen, so you did make the mikes. New York next. Someday I'll find you! All the luck! Martin."

Idiot. Of course, Molly hadn't bothered to type the ship's name on the copy she's had before. This was the original. She sprang up. She would wire the Esthonia. "You forgot to sign your last name, Eileen Gardner." She wrote it down; she sprang up to run and find Molly.

She gripped the message tight. She took her handbag—it would cost as much as a new dress, but what of that? She went to hunt up Molly.

It took some time. Finally she discovered her, taking letters for Mrs. Weigand. She waited impatiently, until the last enthusiastic letter was done, quivering in the doorway. Molly, glancing up, nodded, said to Mrs. Weigand, "I'll be going to type these now," and slid her arm through Eileen's.

"What the trouble, dear, want something?"

"I want this telegram sent to the Esthonia, please. Will you?"

"Crazy? You can't answer fans that cable from cruise ships, nitwit. Cost a million. Answer on the air."

"Yes, I can. I have the money."

"More in this than meets the eye," said Molly. "All right, come on—wait!"

"What for?"

"To get a paper with shipping news in, naturally; otherwise, I'd have to call the nearest port for you to find out, which would be more money yet. What are you, a concealed millionaire?"

"Never mind what I am. That was a friend of mine—I mean."

"You mean a pickup, sweet. You need Aunt Molly to keep you on the straight and narrow. I can see. Come along."

They found a paper. Molly whisked to the shipping page with an experienced hand.

"Sorry to blight your girlish hopes, Eileen."

"What do you mean?"

Molly pointed with a sharp bright nail.

"S. S. Esthonia cruise ends, New Zealand. The date was yesterday. Return trip after docking begins."

Eileen's eyes dazzled.

He hadn't been fooling. He had gone to New Zealand. By now he was ashore. "I don't care," she said. "Send it, and mark it 'Hold.'"

"On the chance the mysterious Martin goes back to the ship? Mostly they don't, you know, they pick up another ship to go forward on. However..."

Message To Martin

SHE shrugged and took it.

"I think it's a lot to do for a fan, but you'll learn better as you know more of fans. Some make you the great big romance of their life, but, darling, they aren't the kind that take luxury cruises; it's the lonely men with isolated jobs, and the women who don't see people, or kids."

"I know. Anyway, send it."

"If you promise not to keep this up. You'll be jangling all your own if you answer every boy that ever met you for a minute and got excited enough over you being a radio singer to wire you."

"I promise."

Molly sent it, as soon as the two girls could get to the central hall. Little Mr. Weigand, blinking behind his glasses, was in the control room, looking helpless as usual. He fiddled with the program, an ineffectual goldfish, high up in the windowed box.

He watched them, and came out. There was no program on for a couple of hours.

"Last night," he said, "Martha and I were playing over some of your recordings after hours, Eileen. They went very well—very well, indeed."

"Oh, did they?" At another time this would have excited her.

"Very well."

He trotted beside them, like a child. He mechanically took Eileen's hand as they walked, as he was in the habit of taking his wife's. He probably, Eileen thought, felt as if something was missing with his hand unoccupied.

"You must come hear them. What about now?"

"Oh, not now," Molly interrupted. "Something I have to work out with her, if she wants to get this afternoon's songs right."

Eileen, who wanted to get back to their place and be quiet, looked at Molly gratefully. They walked down the little path that led to the girls' cottage and on past it, to the Weigands'. Mr. Weigand, with a start, let go Eileen's hand and trotted absently on to his own place.

Molly yawned. "Just one thing after another. Lunch in half hour. Program. Switchboard. Bolt out to see Mom. Bolt back. I haven't had time to fix up my dresser, even, or the table. Mind if I put some things on it? It's as much yours as mine."

Eileen shook her head. Molly dived into a suitcase.

"I dumped a lot of things in here when My Lady felt we had to part," she said. "I like to have it where I can look at him."

She straightened herself, a couple of framed photographs in either hand, and came to the table which ran along the wall, and gave the place its look of a living room. She smoothed the Indian-embroidered crash runner and set out her photographs.

"Doesn't your boy friend hate your being out here so far?" she said casually.

"You mean Jordan Estill? He's an old friend. He isn't my boy friend in the way you mean."

"Honest? Well, better put his picture up, anyway."

"Why? Eileen came over to stare at the man Molly was setting in the place of honor at one end. She was obviously leaving the other for Eileen's possessions. It was a young dark face, handsome, plainly foreign. "Who is this? He's awfully good-looking."

"Aristides By Name"

"ISN'T HE? The sweltest kid. He's Greek. Aristides Papoulos. What a name, eh? His brother's Nicholas, which isn't bad. His and Nick's married, and has a little delicatessen that isn't going so bad. His works with him, but he's plannin' to open a little florist shop—you know one of those holes in a wall. He and Nick are going to take a shop together, next fall; each take half, a sweet partition put up. That's Nick's idea—and mine. His is a sweet heart, but he takes a pushin'."

Molly's face was flushing as she talked eagerly on.

"And is he the one?"

Molly said "Well... sort of. We can't get married till things are better for him. Right now I'm makin' more than he is, or rather the job I'm pickin' up again when I go back to New York pays more."

And he's the kind that doesn't want to live on his wife. He said—'he's awful bright'—he said, 'Molly, you know how I am. If I marry a girl who earns, I don't earn. I dream, I slide along, maybe I sit down on her. She hates me, maybe.'"

"What did you say?"

"Molly's red cheeks were redder—"I told him I couldn't hate him. No matter what. But I guess he's right. And as I don't intend to stop workin', the florist shop is O.K. with me. He's nearly got enough saved. He can borrow some. By next spring, maybe, even earlier."

She stood back and looked at him. Again, Bossy red-haired Molly would be just the wife for him, Eileen thought. She had probably done most of the courting.

And that took her back to the memory of the night she had met Martin. Miss Willeston. Her intemperate. "Women have a right to tell men, honestly, if they love them. Men have a right to let women support them if it chances that way."

Molly didn't believe in that. At least, not the second clause. She came back from her daydream. Molly had spoken sharply to her, a second time.

"Haven't you any photographs?"

"Why—why, yes. A lot." Eileen spoke confusedly. "I simply hadn't bothered. I've been so busy. Does it matter?"

Molly turned and faced Eileen, full.

"Yes. It does matter. If Jordan Estill isn't your sweetie, put his picture up anyway, and let the bunch think so. Go a little coy or something about it. Or somebody else, depends on what sort of a face you like. I advise it."

Molly's Irish voice was serious. It was emphatic.

Eileen said, "Look here, what is this about? You want me to look popular?"

"Just an old meanie, darling, taking the joy out of life. Eileen, the dope on this situation out here is that the girls do it—the radio stuff. I mean—for just one thing. The art they live for. That's Martha Weigand's story, and she sticks to it."

"Well then, sorry to be dumb, but why the photographs?"

"Because then Martha won't worry so much if somebody tries to take your mind off your work. Martha sees all, you know."

SCHOOL MEN IN DINNER MEETING AT YOUNGVILLE

Youngville, April 25—Supt. P. R. Getts and the men of the Youngville High School faculty were hosts on Wednesday evening, when the Warren County School Men's Club met in Youngville for a dinner meeting. The girls of the home economics department, Miss Ostroski, supervisor, served the dinner to the forty-four guests present.

Supt. John G. Rossman, Principal F. W. Bathurst and A. F. Dunham, all of the Warren school faculty, gave reports of the results of the supervisors correspondence courses offered in the Warren schools this year. Twenty-one different courses were offered with 175 pupils enrolled. This new field of education in the public schools came through the Penn State College Extension division. The talks were followed by a demonstration of visual aid equipment as used in the Youngville school.

CONCERT PLANNED

good they do is something impossible to tell.

An obvious explanation would be that congressmen are perhaps woefully uninformed on even the things that get printed in the newspaper—the fact that Ford strikers offered to let the men on defense jobs keep on working, the fact that the coal miners offered to keep on working the mines if terms of settlement were made retroactive to April 1, the fact that A. F. of L. building trades have already outlawed jurisdictional strikes. And so on, unendingly.

More purposeless questions have been asked on these investigations, based on lack of information, than you will hear in any sixth-grade schoolroom.

Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Smith were called to New Wilmington Monday morning by the sudden death of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. F. L. Pfeiffer, of St. Paul, Minn., who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Frank Dorn, left Saturday evening to spend two weeks in New York.

Miss Dorothy Johnson, of Cleveland, O., was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. John Stuart.

Miss Helen Abbott was the weekend guest of Miss Marie Johnson, of Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carlson and son Richard have returned home from spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hensler, of Buffalo, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cody, of Grove City, were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cody.

Mrs. Roy Briggs spent Monday afternoon in Titusville at a meeting of school directors. Miss Margaret Hamilton accompanied her to the home of Mrs. Fred Wales on Goodwill Hill. Mrs. Wales, who has been confined to her bed several months with a broken hip, is much improved.

The fire company was called out about five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when a brooder heater in the barn of Traverse Stohberg on Pleasant street became overheated. No serious damage was caused.

Rev. and Mrs. Nuesom, of Princeton, Pa., were weekend guests of Rev. and Mrs. Perrin. Rev. Nuesom delivering the sermon at the Presbyterian service Sunday morning.

Lack of information on current affairs is not the only reason for this waste of effort. As stated before, the government has become too complicated for anyone to keep up on and congressmen are too busy with political appointments, job seekers and affairs of their own district. Too many men are sent to Washington just because they can get elected.

The result is that we have a Congress ruled by emotions and not by facts. Everyone is all excited about labor trouble now and some new legislation will be passed in an effort to do something about it. What is overlooked is that Bethlehem Steel has already been cited by the National Labor Relations Board 67 times, and that the time to have settled the Ford strike was four years ago, when trouble first began.

And the fact that the two worst strikes of the defense effort have taken place in states which had compulsory "cooling off" periods, Michigan and Wisconsin, goes for nothing.

Extra-gentle bleaching as provided by Clorox means extra life for cottons and linens . . . for Clorox is free from caustic and other harsh substances which are damaging to fabrics. And Clorox lessens rubbing, further prolonging life of cottons and linens, making wash day easier.

Millions of mothers have adopted the modern Clorox method of hygienic housekeeping. For Clorox is extra-efficient in combating invisible germ dangers. It disinfects, deodorizes, removes numerous stains in routine cleansing of china, glassware, tile, enamel, porcelain, linoleum, wood surfaces.

Someday I'll Find You

BY MARGARET WIDDERMER

YESTERDAY: At last Eileen Gardner, the given Jordan Estill his walking papers. Jordan had objected when she took a poorly-paid radio job, and had arranged for her to sing concerts—and to marry him. But now Eileen has convinced Jordan that he must wait a long time, probably fruitlessly, and sent him away. And the reason she could do it was a radiogram from a man named Martin whom she has seen once, and never will forget.

Chapter Ten

Answer For Martin

EILEEN stood still in his hold with that passivity which is more of a denial than any resistance. His arms dropped and she moved a little away from him.

"Good-bye Jordan. Good luck," she said.

"She went into the little cottage."

She took care not to be early enough at breakfast to say good-bye to the party. She, unseen, saw them driving off. Lucille Anders had seen to it that she was in the front seat beside Jordan. She went in again. It was one of the cottages which was had to be of course—furnished with a piano. She sat down and went to work on that night's songs with her little traveling clock facing her.

Later, her nervous fingers brushed through the pile of fan mail. Yes, here it was, copied on cheap yellow paper they all used. She stared at it, trying to make it tell her more.

"S. S. Esthonia. Good for you, Eileen, so you did make the mikel New York next. Someday I'll find you! All the luck! Martin."

Idiot. Of course Molly hadn't bothered to type the ship's name in the copy she had before. This was the original. She sprang up. She would wire the Esthonia. "You forgot to sign your last name, Eileen Gardner." She wrote it down; she sprang up to run and find Molly.

She gripped the message tight. She took her handbag—it would cost as much as a new dress, but what of that? She went to hunt up Molly.

It took some time. Finally she discovered her, taking letters for Mrs. Weigand. She waited impatiently, until the last enthusiastic letter was in the doorway. Molly, glancing up, nodded, said to Mrs. Weigand, "I'll be going to type these now," and sid her arm through Eileen's.

"What the trouble, dear, want something?"

"I want this telegram sent to the Esthonia, please. Will you?"

"Crazy? You can't answer fans that come from cruise ships, nitwit. Cost a million. Answer on the air."

"Yes, I can. I have the money." "More in this than meets the eye," said Molly. "All right, come on—wait!"

"What for?"

"To get a paper with shipping news in, naturally; otherwise, I'd have to call the nearest port for you to find out, which would be more money yet. What are you, a concealed millionaire?"

"Never mind what I am. That was a friend of mine—I mean."

"You mean a pickup, sweet. You need Aunt Molly to keep you straight and narrow, I can see. Come along."

They found a paper. Molly whisked to the shipping page with an experienced hand.

"Sorry to blight your girlish hopes, Eileen."

"What do you mean?"

"Molly pointed with a sharp bright nail."

"S. S. Esthonia cruise ends, New Zealand." The date was yesterday. Return trip after docking begins . . .

Eileen's eyes dazzled. He hadn't been fooling. He had gone to New Zealand. By now he was ashore. . . "I don't care," she said. "Send it, and mark it 'Hold'."

"On the chance the mysterious Martin goes back to the ship? Mostly they don't, you know, they pick up another ship to go forward on. However . . ."

Message To Martin

SHE shrugged and took it. "I think it's a lot to do for a fan, but you'll learn better as you know more of fans. Some make you the great big romance of their life, but, darling, they aren't the kind that take luxury cruises; it's the lonely men with isolated jobs, and the women who don't see people, or kids."

"I know. Anyhow, send it."

"If you promise not to keep this up. You'll be wasting all you own if you answer every boy that ever met you for a minute and not excited enough over you being a radio singer to wire you."

"I promise."

Molly sent it, as soon as the two girls could get to the central hall. Little Mr. Weigand, blinking behind his glasses, was in the control room, looking helpless as usual. He fiddled with the program, an ineffectual goldfish, high up in the windowed box.

He watched them, and came out. There was no program on for a couple of hours.

"Last night," he said, "Martha and I were playing over some of your recordings after hours, Eileen. They went very well—very well, indeed."

Rip's Single Breaks Up Pirate-Cub Tilt; Yanks Leading Loop

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch's insurance policy returned a nice fat dividend check to the Pittsburgh Pirates today, and no one was happier than the "policy" himself.

For, this policy, better known to the trade as Jim the Ripper Collins, not only paid off when it counted most in the clutch—but he did it against the Chicago Cubs, the club that let the policy "lapse" by sending him to minors a couple of years ago.

It must have warmed the hearts of both Frankie and Rip, that pinch-single Collins delivered in 11th inning yesterday which gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 decision over the Cubs.

For ten innings, Larry French did a good job of putting holes in the Buc bats, and looked to have the game well under control. Then, with two on in the 11th, Rip went in for Johnny Lanning and delivered.

The win didn't affect the standings in the league, for the Pirates are well down in the lists and the New York Giants, setting the pace, were rained out at Boston.

Over in the American League, however, the top spots were reshuffled and dealt over again and there were your old pounding pals, the Yankees, right on top of the heap.

A combination of Marius Russo's seven-hit, southpawing and two three-run innings, one of them produced by Charley Keller's homer, gave the Yanks a 6-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

This setback dropped the Sox from the No. 1 slot right down to a tie for third place with the Cleveland Indians, who were nosed out 2-1 by the Chicago White Sox.

Lefty Thornton Lee bested Lefty Al Smith in this one and the win boosted Jimmy Dykes' wondermen

SPORT SPATTERINGS

by BILL RICE

Dan Daniel, who writes "Over the Fence" in the Sporting News, handbook of fan, player and writer alike, came up this week with one of the neatest Americanism editorials your correspondent has read in many a day. As a matter of fact, it ought to be transcribed on a scroll and placed in the Cooperstown archives. And so that you may read it, here it is:

IT COULD—AND DID—HAPPEN HERE

Democracy! The preview opening of the baseball season in Washington was a tremendous success. There were 32,000 people in the park, the Yankees and the Senators played a thrilling, close game, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt threw out the first ball, and remained to the finish. Marius Russo pitched a corker for the New York club. Joe DiMaggio did some robust hitting. But the feature was the President of the United States, even for the man who had come, not for any of the frills, but for nothing more than the baseball entertainment. Where else could it have happened except in free, democratic United States? At the moment Roosevelt threw out the first ball, it was the most amazing thing in the world. The head of the greatest nation, amid wars and strikes, griefs and troubles, coming to a ball park to toss a ball and sit around relaxed for a couple of hours watching the drama of the great national pastime!

"Frisious," snorts Hitler, "Ridiculous," gutturals Mussolini. "Marvelous," says the American, as he sees behind the curtain—as he grasps the things connoted by Mr. Roosevelt's throwing out the ball and remaining to watch the fight to its decision. This Washington preview is a great thing for baseball. It is far greater than anybody in an official capacity in baseball appears to comprehend.

Hereafter, when the baseball season is opened in Washington on a day all by itself—let there be no encroachments, ever; let league lines be forgotten.

Let the High Commissioner Judge Landis; let the head of the American League, William Harbridge; let the president of the National League, Ford Frick; the head of the minors, Judge Bramham; let all the available presidents of minor leagues; let every club president of the majors gather at Washington and march down that fairway to the flagpole on which is raised the Stars and Stripes.

Let every man of any position in all baseball come to this big opening in Washington and give thanks for America and for baseball—and for a form of government which permits the President to come out among a free people, throw out a little ball—and watch a game.

Arouse yourselves, you men in high office and you men of baseball position!

Let this annual opening in Washington become a tremendous pageant, dedicating anew, every April, the great game of baseball to the great people of America. Let there be more showmanship on the field, more hurrah—an event for all America and for all the leagues.

Let all the men in baseball get wise to the fact that the Washington preview is not just a local happening; that the President does not come out to inaugurate a local season. He opens the American campaign, and it would be only a courtesy if every one of the baseball officials I have mentioned returned that courtesy.

Let there be a parade of the greatest players of the 16 clubs in the major leagues—the Great 32, let us say, of the ranks in uniform. Wake up, Baseball!

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

The Kinzua Warriors, victims of a no-hit, no-run performance by the Dragons in the openers, were again drubbed by the Leidigmen yesterday at Kinzua, the locals getting 21 runs on 15 hits while the Massamen got six from ten blows.

Bennett went the route for the Dragons, fanning ten and giving up three bases on balls. Peterson started on the hill for the up-river nine and was replaced in the fifth by R. Bennett.

Dick Kifer was yesterday's leading hitter, with a double and two singles in five trips to the rubber. Vic Huffman and Jam Harding each contributed a triple and a single and Jim Urbanski also swatted one for three bases.

Shine, with a double and a one-baser, was tops for the Mass crew, with LaDow and Young each getting two singles.

INDIANA AND N. Y. U. FAVORED IN RELAYS

Philadelphia, April 25—(AP)—Indiana and New York University ruled co-favorites today in the sprint and distance medley races opening the 47th annual Pennsylvania Relay Carnival but any one of a half dozen rivals in each event loomed as a possible upset winner. There's plenty of reasons for the rating of the Hoosiers and Violets in the top positions.

Indiana has speedy Roy Cochran and national half-mile champion Campbell Kane available for the sprint medley, an event they won in record time at last week's Kansas Relays, and Cochran, Kane and Wayne Tolliver, Big Ten indoor two-mile champion, for the longer distance medley.

New York University's ace is Les MacMittell, the nation's premier miler, ably supported by three lesser known but tested speedsters. Of the two races, the spring medley, covering a mile in all, promises the coldest competition. The same Princeton quartet that won last year is back for another try.

THIRD-YEAR CHARM

Chicago, April 25—Chicago Cub fans insist the National League pennant will fly from Wrigley Field this fall because the Bruins captured the title every third year since 1929. They last won in 1933, so this is the magic year.

Rip's Single Breaks Up Pirate-Cub Tilt; Yanks Leading Loop

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch's insurance policy returned a nice fat dividend check to the Pittsburgh Pirates today, and no one was happier than the "policy" himself.

For, this policy, better known to the trade as Jim the Ripper, not only paid off when it counted most in the clutch—but he did it against the Chicago Cubs, the club that let the policy "lapse"

by sending him to minor's a couple of years ago.

It must have warmed the hearts of both Frankie and Rip, that pinch-single Collins delivered in 11th inning yesterday which gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 decision over the Cubs.

For ten innings Larry French did a good job of putting holes in the Cub bats, and looked to have the game well under control. Then, with two on in the 11th, Rip went in for Johnny Lanning and delivered.

The win didn't affect the standings in the league, for the Pirates are well down in the lists and the New York Giants, setting the pace, were rained out at Boston.

Over in the American League, however, the top spots were reshuffled and dealt over again and there were your old pounding pals, the Yankees, right on top of the heap. A combination of Marius Russo's seven-hit southpawing and two three-run innings, one of them produced by Charley Keller's homer gave the Yanks a 6-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

This setback dropped the Sox from the No. 1 slot right down to a tie for third place with the Cleveland Indians, who were nosed out 2-1 by the Chicago White Sox. Lefty Thornton Lee bested Lefty Al Smith in this one and the win boosted Jimmy Dykes' wonderment

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Dan Daniel, who writes "Over the Fence" in the Sporting News, handbook of fan, player and writer alike, came up this week with one of the neatest Americanism editorials your correspondent has read in many a day. As a matter of fact, it ought to be transcribed on a scroll and placed in the Cooperstown archives. And so that you may read it, here it is:

IT COULD—AND DID—HAPPEN HERE

Democracy! The preview opening of the baseball season in Washington was a tremendous success. There were 32,000 people in the park, the Yankees and the Senators played a thrilling, close game, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt threw out the first ball, and remained to the finish. Marius Russo pitched a corker for the New York club. Joe DiMaggio did some robust hitting. But the feature was the President of the United States, even for the man who had come, not for any of the frills, but for nothing more than the baseball entertainment. Where else could it have happened except in free, democratic United States? At the moment Roosevelt threw out the first ball, it was the most amazing thing in the world. The head of the greatest nation, amid wars and strikes, griefs and troubles, coming to a ball park to toss a ball and sit around relaxed for a couple of hours watching the drama of the great national pastime!

"Frisolous," snorts Hitler. "Ridiculous," gutturals Mussolini. "Marvelous," says the American, as he sees behind the curtain—as he grasps the things conned by Mr. Roosevelt's throwing out the ball and remaining to watch the fight to its decision. This Washington preview is a great thing for baseball. It is far greater than anybody in an official capacity in baseball appears to comprehend.

Hereafter, when the baseball season is opened in Washington on a day all by itself—let there be no encroachments, ever; let league lines be forgotten.

Let the High Commissioner, Judge Landis; let the head of the American League, William Harbridge; let the president of the National League, Ford Frick; the head of the minors, Judge Bramham; let all the available presidents of minor leagues; let every club president of the majors gather at Washington and march down that fairway to the flagpole on which is raised the Stars and Stripes.

Let every man of any position in all baseball come to this big opening in Washington and give thanks for America and for baseball—and for a form of government which permits the President to come out among a free people, throw out a little ball—and watch a game.

Arouse yourselves, you men in high office and you men of baseball position!

Let this annual opening in Washington become a tremendous pageant, dedicating anew, every April, the great game of baseball to the great people of America. Let there be more showmanship on the field, more hurrah—an event for all America and for all the leagues.

Let all the men in baseball get wise to the fact that the Washington preview is not just a local happening; that the President does not come out to inaugurate a local season. He opens the American campaign, and it would be only a courtesy if every one of the baseball officials I have mentioned returned that courtesy.

Let there be a parade of the greatest players of the 16 clubs in the major leagues—the Great 32, let us say, of the ranks in uniform. Wake up, Baseball!

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

April 25, 1921—Albin Dahlin, Sheffield pitcher, who was farmed out to Moline in the Three-L League, has been released by Moline and is back in Erie, where he will hunt for the Mohawks in the City League.

April 25, 1931—Joe Jacobs, manager of the Mohawks, has gone to Cleveland to arrange for a training camp for the champ, who will meet Young Strubling there on July 3.

into second place.

"Hot Potato" Luke Hamlin turned in his second straight hurling "quiff" to give the revamped Brooklyn Dodgers a 6-1 win over the fabled Phillies. On top of his five-hitter of last Saturday, the "Hot Potato" tossed a four-hitter this time.

Lonnie Frey's ninth inning double sent the winning run home to enable the Cincinnati Reds to down the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2. Tommy Bridges' steady elbowing and a two-run triple by Frankie Croucher, in celebration of his graduation from the bench, gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-2 edge over the St. Louis Browns. Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics were sidelined by cold weather.

MOUNTIE RUNNERS ARE HERE TOMORROW

The first track meet of the season will be held at Beatty Field tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when Coach "Heinie" Kolpien's Dragons clash with M. Jevett.

DRAGONS AGAIN DRUB WARRIORS IN HIT PARADE

The Kinzua Warriors, victims of a no-hit, no-run performance by the Dragons in the openers, were again drubbed by the Leidigmen yesterday at Kinzua, the locals getting 21 runs on 15 hits while the Massamen got six from ten blows.

Bennett went the route for the Dragons, fanning ten and giving up three bases on balls. Peterson started on the hill for the up-river nine and was replaced in the fifth by R. Bennett.

Dick Kifer was yesterday's leading hitter, with a double and two singles in five trips to the rubber. Vic Huffman and Jim Harding each contributed a triple and a single and Jim Urbanski also swatted one for three bases.

Shine, with a double and a one-baser, was tops for the Massamen, with LaDow and Young each setting two singles.

PREDICT THAT FOURTEEN WILL START IN DERBY

Louisville, Ky., April 25.—(P)—Kentucky hardboots, putting together all their information and horse knowledge, today predicted a field of 14 to start May 3 in the 67th running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby.

Out of the 112 top three-year-old thoroughbreds in the country, nominated Feb. 15 for the mile and a quarter classic, observers at Churchill Downs believe that only 14 have shown enough to warrant their owners putting up the $500 necessary to have them among the starters.

Here's the way the hardboots lined up the Derby field today

Horse	Owner
Porters Cap	Charles S. Howard
Whirlaway	Warren Wright
Our Boots	Woodvale Farms
King Cole	Ogden Phillips
Blue Pair	V. S. Bragg
Little Beans	R. Palladina
Robert Morris	J. F. Byers
Valdina Groom	Valdina Farms
Aggiecole	Shadybrook Farms
Dispose	King Ranch
Curious Coin	Coldstream Stud

Considered outside possibilities as starters are Valdina Paul, owned by Valdina Farms, Master Henry owned by the Bern stable and Cleveland Putnam's Swain.

Of course, some last minute surprises in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday or possibly the Derby Trial Stakes at Churchill Downs next Tuesday might inject an unconsidered nominee into the Derby field.

Our Boots' sensational showing yesterday in winning the Blue Grass Stakes at Lexington, whipping Whirlaway for the fourth time in five meetings, established the Bulldog-Maid of Arches colt as the heavy favorite for the race at Churchill Downs next Saturday.

STAR KEGLING TEAMS TAKING ABC DRIVES

St. Paul, April 25.—(P)—If the Vogel Bros., of Forest Park, Ill., who scored 3,065 in the team event of the American Bowling Congress on March 30 get past tonight's schedule, they stand a good chance of topping the 5,798 teams when the curtain drops May 6.

Two of Chicago's outstanding teams, five quintets from Kansas City, Mo., six Detroit lineups and a quartet of tonight teams from Rochester, N. Y., are included among the 80 teams scheduled. Joe Wilman, Chicago, who won the all-events in 1939, with a mark of 2,028, Adolph Carlson, Chicago's former match champion, Earl Shepherd, Kansas City, former international titleholder, are a few of bowling's outstanding names expected to roll tonight.

Rochester at Baltimore.
Toronto at Newark.
Montreal at Syracuse.

SPORTS

PREDICT THAT FOURTEEN WILL START IN DERBY

Louisville, Ky., April 25.—(P)—Kentucky horsemen, putting together all their information and horse knowledge, today predicted a field of 14 to start May 3 in the 87th running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby.

Out of the 112 top three-year-old thoroughbreds in the country, nominated Feb. 15 for the mile and a quarter classic, observers at Churchill Downs believe that only 14 have shown enough to warrant their owners putting up the $500 necessary to have them among the starters.

Here's the way the handicappers lined up the Derby field today:

Horse	Owner
Porters Cap	Charles S. Howard
Whirlaway	Warren Wright
Our Boots	Woodvale Farms
King Cole	Ogden Phillips
Blue Fair	V. S. Briggs
Little Eneas	F. Palladini
Robert Morris	J. F. Byers
Valdina Farms	Valdina Farms
Agriole	Shadybrook Farms
Disposse	King Ranch
Curious Coin	Colstream Stud

Considered outside possibilities as starters are Valdina Paul, owned by Valdina Farms, Master Henry, owned by the Ben stable and Cleveland Putnam's Swain.

Of course, some last minute surprises in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday or possibly the Derby Trial Stakes at Churchill Downs next Tuesday might inject an unconsidered nominee into the Derby field.

Our Boots' sensational showing yesterday in winning the Blue Grass Stakes at Lexington, whipping time in five meetings, establishes the Bulldog-Maid of Arches colt as the heavy favorite for the race at Churchill Downs next Saturday.

STAR KEGLING TEAMS
TAKING ABC DRIVES

St. Paul, April 25.—(P)—If the Vogel Bros., of Forest Park, Ill., who scored 3,065 in the team event of the American Bowling Congress on March 30 get past tonight's schedule, they stand a good chance of topping the 5,798 teams when the curtain drops May 6.

Two of Chicago's outstanding teams, five quintets from Kansas City, Mo., six Detroit lineups and a quartet of topflight teams from Rochester, N. Y., are included among the 80 teams scheduled.

Joe Wilman, Chicago, who won the all-events in 1939, with a mark of 2,028, Adolph Carlson, Chicago's former match champion, Earl Shepherd, Kansas City, former international titleholder, are a few of bowling's outstanding names expected to roll tonight.

Rochester at Baltimore.
Toronto at Newark.
Montreal at Syracuse.

JERSEY MAN ADMITS SETTING FOREST FIRES

Lakewood, N. J., April 25.—(P)—Howard W. Thompson, 19, who pleaded guilty to charges of setting fire to the Van Hiseville area last Monday, was in jail today in default of a $2,000 fine.

Justice of the Peace Benjamin Novins said Thompson admitted starting the fires although he assigned no reason. Police sought two men Thompson named as accomplices.

The fires caused only slight damage. The damage in other fires which raged through this area from Sunday to Thursday was estimated at $1,250,000.

The hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace T. M. Greenlund.

TIN SUBSTITUTES
State College, April 25.—(P)—The ceramic industry has adequate substitutes for tin if the war causes a shortage of this metal, Dr. Norbert J. Kreidl of the Pennsylvania State College reported today.

Asserting zircon and monazite are "not so rare as people think," he said these minerals could be used by the ceramic industry, thus conserving tin for national defense.

In the past, tin oxides have been the chief agents for making porcelain enamel white, but Dr. Kreidl said zircon and monazite could be utilized to accomplish the same purpose.

Revenge Given As Reason For Clarion Crime

yesterday neighbors had informed him that Wentling had killed his father, Bert Derolph, in 1912, when the defendant was 14. Coroner's records state that Bert Derolph committed suicide after killing his wife and daughter.

Derolph said neighbors told him his father was "knocked" unconscious while shaving and a gas hose was put into his mouth.

Speaking quietly and at times in a choked voice, Derolph asserted he killed Wentling "because I knew he had killed my father and I was going to get back at him."

Derolph has pleaded guilty and the court heard evidence to determine the degree of guilt. The Youngstown man contended the killing of Wentling's 12-year-old son, however, was accidental.

The defendant, described earlier by relatives as a "wanderer," partially paralyzed in 1930 by a blood clot on the brain, told of going to the Wentling farm December 27 and accusing Wentling of killing his father. He said Wentling did not answer directly, but asked him into the house for supper.

last night by a thunderous dive-bomber attack on the port of Piraeus, five miles away.

A Greek communiqué 'early today' said the Luftwaffe smashed, too, at the nearby coastal and island points of Eleusis, Megara, Corinth and Argina.

A cloud of planes swarmed down on Piraeus where, the communiqué said, the 2,295-ton passenger ship Hellas carrying refugees to the Greek island was bombed and set ablaze, killing many women and children.

Two red cross-marked hospital ships were reported sunk off the Peloponnese coast by bombs—the Polkops, without casualties, at Methone, and the Andros, with some casualties among the crew, at Loutra. A steamer also was reported bombed off the island of Keos, but without casualties or serious damage.

Anti-aircraft gunners were credited with bringing down three of the raiders.

which the United States has obligation under the Monroe Doctrine to protect against any non-American nation, and of the Bahamas, Antigua and others of the British West Indies, and British Guiana, where this country also has established bases.

(Greenland has been formally embraced within the hemisphere defense system.)

Secretaries Hull, Knox and Wickard all spoke vigorously yesterday of the need of seeing to it that American aid is made truly effective.

A reporter asked: "Won't we have a safe sea road to Greenland?"

The president said he hoped so, and that he hoped there would be no more acts of aggression.

From there he went on to say he was not at all sure Greenland was not in part occupied by the Axis. But he did not specify what type of occupation might be present there.

To a question whether the United States was doing anything to counteract Axis moves in Greenland, the president replied in the affirmative but without elaboration.

While Mr. Roosevelt did not comment specifically on addresses yesterday by cabinet members, he conceded that they represented his views.

He said he thought the addresses spoke for themselves pretty clearly and for the majority of American people.

said, while five other transport and supply ships sunk amounted to 21,600 tons.

In attacks on an airport at Argos, the communiqué said, 38 planes and many motor vehicles were destroyed on the ground and two more planes shot down in a fight.

The exact location of the German army advancing on Athens was not given, but German spokesmen described the Greek capital as a "ripe apple" left to ripen for German plucking.

"Athens will fall as a result of military and strategic finesse," authorized quarters predicted.

Informed sources intimated that they expected the German occupation of Athens to be without resistance.

To queries as to when the fall of the city might be expected a German spokesman answered: "Our military leadership will not be misled into making mistakes by any insignificant question of prestige."

Nazi troops will enter Athens, it was said, only when such a step is justified completely from a German point of view and only after it is assured that the city can be taken without destruction.

In this connection, authorized sources declared the German army had refrained from taking Paris at the earliest opportunity last spring because by waiting a few days it was possible to capture the French capital without bombardment.

The famous aviator, who frequently has criticized the administration's foreign policy, is a reserve colonel.

The president remarked that in the Civil War, both the confederates and the northerners took on liberty-loving people from other countries, and both let certain people go.

The latter, he said, were the Valandighams.

(Clement L. Vallandigham was a representative from Ohio and was arrested by the union military authorities in 1863 for "reasonable utterances" and was banished to the Confederate states.)

He was known as a leader of the "Copperheads."

Lakewood, N. J., April 25.—(P)—Howard W. Thompson, 19, who pleaded guilty to charges of setting five forest fires in the Van Hiseville area last Monday, was in jail today in default of a $2,000 fine.

Justice of the Peace Benjamin Novins said Thompson admitted starting the blazes although he assigned no reason. Police sought two men Thompson named as accomplices.

The fires caused only slight damage. The damage in other fires which raged through this area from Sunday to Thursday was estimated at $1,250,000.

The hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace T. M. Greenlund.

TIN SUBSTITUTES

State College, April 25.—(P)—The ceramic industry has adequate substitutes for tin if the war causes a shortage of this metal, Dr. Norbert J. Kreidl of the Pennsylvania State College reported today.

Asserting zircon and monazite are "not so rare as people think," he said these minerals could be used by the ceramic industry, thus conserving tin for national defense.

In the past, tin oxides have been the chief agents for making porcelain enamel white, but Dr. Kreidl said zircon and monazite could be utilized to accomplish the same purpose.

yesterday neighbors had informed him that Wentling had killed his father, Bert Derolph, in 1912, when the defendant was 14. Coroner's records state that Bert Derolph committed suicide after killing his wife and daughter.

Derolph said neighbors told him his father was "kicked unconscious while shaving and a gas hose was put into his mouth."

Speaking quietly and at times in a choked voice, Derolph asserted he killed Wentling "because I knew he had killed my father and I was going to get back at him."

Derolph has pleaded guilty and the court heard evidence to determine the degree of guilt. The Youngstown man contended the killing of Wentling's 12-year-old son, however, was accidental.

The defendant, described earlier by relatives as a "wanderer," partially paralyzed in 1930 by a blood clot on the brain, told of going to the Wentling farm December 27 and accusing Wentling of killing his father. He said Wentling did not answer directly, but asked him into the house for supper.

The exact location of the German army advancing on Athens was not given, but German spokesmen described the Greek capital as a "ripe apple" left to ripen for German plucking.

"Athens will fall as a result of military and strategic finesse," authorized quarters predicted.

Informed sources intimated that they expected the German occupation of Athens to be without resistance.

To queries as to when the fall of the city might be expected a German spokesman answered: "Our military leadership will not be misled into making mistakes by any insignificant question of prestige."

Nazi troops will enter Athens, it was said, only when such a step is justified completely from a German point of view and only after it is assured that the city can be taken without destruction.

In this connection, authorized sources declared the German army had refrained from taking Paris at the earliest opportunity last spring because by waiting a few days it was possible to capture the French capital without bombardment.

The body of Miss Villa was found in her bed in a rooming house on Spruce street. She had been strangled and her body mutilated in much the same way as that of the woman found today.

STATE FOREST SERVICE SELLS WOOD PRODUCTS

Harrisburg, April 25—The Department of Forests and Waters has contracted for the sale of approximately 25,000,000 board feet of lumber from the State Forests during the past year and a half. In addition, more than 10,000 cords of wood, 6,500 posts and 2,000 mine props have been sold, according to Secretary G. Albert Stewart. This is the most extensive sale of forest products from the State Forests for a similar period of time in the history of the Department. Negotiations are under way for the sale of additional material.

Prior to the sale of State Forest timber an inspection is made and the cutting regulated so as not to seriously injure the present growing stock.

Secretary Stewart points out that after trees reach a certain age their value for lumber deteriorates. All of the timber which has been sold has practically reached this point. Cutting and selling of forest products is as important as the planting of trees and producing forest crops.

Every purchaser of State Forest timber must sign a contract which specifies where and how the timber is to be cut, how it is to be measured, removed and paid for. There are regulations governing unnecessary damage to young growth, height of stumps, breast high and top diameter limits and fire control measures.

Bonds are posted for the fulfillment of all terms of the timber sale agreement and the purchaser is required to make a specified advance payment and additional payments at designated times. Small timber sales constitute an important factor in supplying wood needs to local communities within and adjacent to State Forest areas. On one tract of timber, recently sold, the purchaser is erecting three mills and it is expected that it will require five years to complete the operation. This will give employment to a considerable number of local men and the purchaser expects to sub-let contracts for skidding, cutting and sawing. This timber is over an 8,000-acre tract.

Fire prevention and suppression are the first steps in maintaining a permanent supply of lumber and at the same time provide employment in harvesting forest products.
